

“Guess what?
You can still live well with dementia”

Kent Dementia Action Alliance presents:

‘A Dementia Friendly Market Place’

Date: Thursday, 24th April 2014

Time: 10am to 3pm

Augustine House, Canterbury Christ Church University, CT1 2YA

The alliance is proud to announce Tommy Whitelaw, a star in his own right, will be joining us from Scotland to provide the keynote speech.

Do you want to know more about living well with dementia?

Come along to meet people across Kent who will be talking about how they are making a difference in a personal and professional capacity, in libraries, business, shops, care homes, galleries, hospitals, schools, churches and in their own homes. We are working towards a dementia-friendly Kent where there is no stigma, fear or judgement.

The Alliance will be launched at 1pm but everyone will be welcome throughout the day for conversation, awareness sessions, films, drama, demos, info and showcasing work undertaken collaboratively by young people and the young at heart.

Contact: katy.russ@canterbury.ac.uk or 01227 863 530 for more information.

We look forward to seeing you there.
